Affirmation Co-Spokesperson. During the plenary Annual Conference Session this June, Bishop Talbert hung the medallion around Jeanne's neck. He recognized Jeanne because "she always gave generously of her time and abilities to the Church."

Bishop Talbert cited her local church work as a member of St. Mark's UMC, Sacramento, Delta District Lay Leader and her current work as Director of Administration/Services Division of the Conference Capital Campaign "Expanding Our Vision."

Judicial Council Decisions

At its October meeting, the United Methodist Judicial Council determined that definitions of "self-avowed practicing homosexual" adopted by West Virginia and California-Pacific Annual Conferences were inadequate. The West Virginia definition included third party reporting which went beyond "self-avowal." The Cal-Pac definition included the "intent" to engage in same sex genital relations in the future, an unacceptable ground upon which to deny ordination or appointment. Rev. Frank Wulf of that conference continues as a clergy-person in good standing.

National Council Notes

The National Council of Affirmation met in Los Angeles on October 7, 1994, prior to the National Gathering. Much was accomplished, especially within the various committees that worked through the day and into the week-end of the Gathering. True to our commitment to keep the membership informed this is a summary of the actions taken and items discussed.

Witness Committee Report

General Conference Event

The General Commission on the General Conference has invited Affirmation to send representation to a meeting of its Program Committee in Denver, CO, on November 17, 1994. Co-spokespersons Jeanne Barnett and Tom Russell and Witness Committee members Jeanne Knepper and Rebecca Richards will attend the meeting. Together with representatives from the Methodist Federation for Social Action and the Reconciling Congregation Program, we will help to shape an event at General Conference that will witness to the importance of civil rights for lesbian, gay and bisexual people. The invitation comes as a follow-up to our presence at a June 1993 meeting, where Affirmation, MFSA and the RCP urged the Commission to protest the Colorado adoption of an anti-gay rights amendment by moving the 1996 General Conference out of Colorado. At that time, in a compromise decision, those present were promised that they would be consulted to plan the General Conference event. Affirmation hopes to plan an event that will focus General Conference attention on the on-going attack on our civil rights and will lead the Church to respond to those attacks with vigor.

National Council of Churches

The Metropolitan Community Church has planned an inter-denominational lesbian, gay and bisexual gathering to take place concurrently with the November meeting of the National Council of Churches in New Orleans. The program, dealing with the religious right, will feature MCC minister Mel White, author of Stranger at the Gate.

As a cost-saving measure, the Affirmation National Council has asked Sam Wilson of Dallas to attend as our representative. He will be a witness to the presence of lesbian, gay and bisexual Christians in United Methodism, connect with United Methodist delegates to the National Council of Churches and participate in the parallel event planned by MCC.

United Methodist delegates have been among the strongest supporters of lesbian and gay interests on the National Council of Churches. NCC President-elect, Melvin Talbert, speaks out strongly and consistently on lesbian/gay/bisexual issues. We intend to strengthen their witness by our presence.

Homosexuality Study

It is never comfortable, and it shouldn't be necessary, to be "studied." That said, the Witness Committee believes the new curriculum "The Church Studies Homosexuality" is faithful, fair and useful. The leader's guide is particularly helpful, providing advice and exercises to reduce polemics and to open minds. In almost all settings, its use would be a step in the direction of greater understanding and acceptance.

General Conference Presence

Affirmation will build its 1996 General Conference presence around the theme "And grace will lead us home." Evoking the third verse of the hymn "Amazing Grace," the theme speaks to the grace that has already lead lesbian, gay and bisexual Christians through dangers, toils and snares. It invites the Church to move beyond polarization to a grace-ful acceptance of each other. With this theme we hope to build a presence that is strong, hopeful and gracious.

The National Council will review and adopt a platform statement and a packet of legislative proposals for General Conference at its January meeting. Please send any suggested proposals to the Affirmation PO Box before the end of December, 1994.

hired a part-time staff person. The value of this position has been very evident. The Council, after discussion with the finance committee, has extended the staff position for another six months. Along with this decision came the agreement to extend the staff position contract of Greg Wise for those six months. His work has been greatly appreciated by the many people who have had reason to be in contact with him. If you need to get a message to Greg, or any of the Council members, you can do so through National Affirmation's new telephone number

In our continuing effort to make our presence known and felt within the United Methodist Church the Council agreed to empower Sam Wilson to represent Affirmation at the New Orleans meeting of the National Council of Churches Governing Board November 9-12, 1994.

The agenda includes a discussion of a witness event...

We will also have four Council members attending the meeting of the General Commission on the General Conference November 17, 1994, in Denver. The agenda includes a discussion of a witness event for lesbian, gay and bisexual rights during the 1996 General Conference. We invite you to join with Council members in a period of prayer the day before and the day of the gathering.

Due to the resignation of a Council member from the Northeastern Jurisdiction the election process was begun. A request for nominations has gone out to the membership in that region. Following the acceptance of the nomination by the named individuals an election ballot will be mailed. The elected person will complete the term of the Council member who resigned.

The Council took time to reflect on the life of our friend and fellow Council member Jay McCarty who died in July. Jay was elected to the Council as an At-Large member so the Council named nominees to fill his unexpired term. The nomination was brought to the membership at the Los Angeles National Gathering.

Relating to the election of Council members the Council agreed to name a Nominating Committee to serve for a three year term. The Planning and Evaluation Committee is responsible for assembling that committee.

Two actions concerned our relationship with the Reconciling Congregation Program. Morris Floyd was re-elected to a three year term on the Board of Directors of the RCP. In addition tion three Council members were selected to represent Affirmation in talks with the RCP Board of Directors regarding the future relationship of the two organizations. The current agreement between National Affirmation and the Reconciling Congregation Program expires on March 1, 1995.

The Program Committee is working on the Spring 1995 National Gathering, our 20th Anniversary, and reviewing the document for local groups on how to host a National Gathering. The Evangelism Committee is exploring the creation of a "movement building" mailing list which would receive an abbreviated version of the newsletter. This committee is also reviewing the effectiveness of the Regional Organizing Program. The Witness Committee continues to focus on the 1996 General Conference including Affirmation's platform statement and specific legislative recommendations.

The Council established the Lucille and Mel Wheatley Award to be presented periodically to persons who have stood with us in the struggle.

The next meeting of the Council will be January 14-17, 1995, in Las Vegas, Nevada. We will be hosted by the North Las Vegas Wesley United Methodist Church.

Bishop's Award...from page one

The Bishop stated, "She is a member of the National Affirmation Council, and is very active in promoting understanding of Homosexuality and Reconciling Congregations. Known for her honesty and integrity, she is very open about her sexual orientation and has never accepted a job in the church without making that known. She and her family partner of 10 years work diligently for the day when all persons, regardless of their sexual orientation, will be allowed full participation in the Church."

"Receiving this award from Bishop Talbert is a special honor," stated Jeanne Barnett in her acceptance. "Bishop Talbert has made his views known of acceptance of all persons without regard to their sexual orientation. I know I am fortunate to be in the California-Nevada Annual Conference, a Reconciling Conference."

Diary of a Secret "First-Timer"

a report on the L.A. National Gathering -- by Mike Bagwell, Alexandria, Virginia

Sunday, October 2--The weekly worship service of the Mid-Atlantic Chapter of Affirmation, Washington, DC.

It's "Joys and Concerns" time and I end up contributing the bulk of both. My joys: that I leave this week for the gathering in Los Angeles and that a large delegation from our group will be joining me there. My concerns: as an "official representative" of our chapter I'll be the eyes and ears for all our members, many of whom feel little or no connection to the national group, to its history or to its involvement in the political structure of the United Methodist Church. They ask questions like, "What is National Affirmation all about? Where is it going and how do we fit in? How do we keep the spirit we have here alive and growing and how do we pass it on to others?"

Thursday, October 6-- National Airport California, here we come! Of the seven people in our group, only Tom Russell and I are actually traveling together. Everyone else has plans to stay longer and make a vacation out of it. I envy them already. Note to American Airlines: take a tip from the United Methodists, when people have to sit for long periods of time in uncomfortable seats, always give them plenty of food!

Friday, October 7--LAX

We arrive just after midnight Pacific Time and meet up with Mark Clark from our chapter. For us it is 3 a.m., but we are absolutely giddy with excitement and there is little chance of us getting much sleep tonight. We share this news with Greg Wise, National Affirmation's sole paid staffer, and our roommate for the weekend. Greg arrived several hours ahead of us and was probably deep in REM sleep when we barreled into the room. Poor Greg...and he has to work tomorrow!

By Friday afternoon the hotel is buzzing with activity. Affirmation folk from eleven states and the District of Columbia have gathered for an opening mixer in the glass-walled penthouse conference room called the "Top of the [Sunset] Strip." This will be our primary gathering place for the weekend. For many in the room, this is reunion of old friends from diverse places whose lives became linked through shared struggle. For others, like Mark Clark or Freddie Brabson from Claremont, CA, this is a chance to meet and connect with that history--and to hopefully find ways to join in and make their own contributions. These folks--the "first-timers" or "virgins" to a national gathering--have rainbow stickers on their name tags. I don't have a sticker, but I should. Technically I did attend the gathering in Washington several years ago, arriving at lunch-time and sitting through a fifteen minute debate on a parliamentary procedure. Then I left to see the Quilt which was being displayed on the Mall, and I never returned. This time around I have responsibilities, as well as a great personal need, to be a part of the entire gathering. I am a secret "first-timer."

Saturday, October 8--The "Top of the Strip"

As the hymn says, "My Lord, What a Morning!" The sun is shining, the sky is a burning blue, and the smog's been blown away by the Santa Ana winds. We can see--clearly--the Hollywood Hills behind us and the great city stretched out in front of us from the skyscrapers downtown to the ocean at Santa Monica and the rugged coastal horizon. Even the Angelenos seem amazed by this day!

The Rev. Lisa Reyes of Toluca Lake UMC leads our morning devotional, which includes moving personal testimonies from Bob Martinez of Los Angeles and Paul Williams of Caldwell, Idaho. John Rice of Knoxville, Tennessee, delivers an energetic musical wake-up call that has us literally jumping out of our seats [editor's note: we have been told that John Rice died in an automobile accident in early November].. The Coordinator of Affirmation/Los Angeles, Rod Spratt, seeming every bit the quintessential Californian despite his South Carolina accent, welcomes us to the gathering and runs through the schedule. Can these folks put on a show or what?! Then we get down to business.

I must admit that when I first heard the topic of this gathering, "Outing the Bible," I was skeptical. Not knowing the speaker or any of the people involved in the program, I frankly expected it would be some radical, half-baked diatribe, full of anger and laced with theological potholes the size of Buicks. I couldn't have been more wrong.

Please turn to page five

This is not to say that what the Rev. Elder Nancy Wilson suggests isn't radical: that gay and lesbian people can be found throughout the Bible, that we were an integral part of the society of that time, and that the "Good News" applies equally to us--just as we are--for the Bible tells us so. If that won't rile 'em down in Lynchburg and Virginia Beach, I don't know what will! As for the "half-baked" notion, I have heard few arguments as cogent, logical and well-founded as is this by Rev. Wilson, the senior minister of MCC/LA. Hers is a message of love, strength and hope, not an angry discourse. The "theological potholes" are not to be found in her thesis, but in the many and various ways that theologians have danced around the facts (or covered them up) for centuries, leaving room for doubt and further examination that one could easily fill with at least a dozen Buicks, several Winnegabos and the 747 they flew in on.

Hers is a message of love, strength and hope...

In summary, every lesbian, gay and bisexual person on the planet should hear this message. Then, every heterosexual person should hear it. How's that for a mission statement?

Our spirits float gently back to Earth, like that feather in "Forrest Gump," to land in a quaint little park tucked behind the hotel across the street. It's lunch time, the point where I came in two years and some 3,000 miles ago. Being good Methodists, we quickly devour our meal which had originally covered the tops of two and a half picnic tables. After all, there are several more hours of sitting in uncomfortable chairs before dinner.

The afternoon program is divided into three concurrent discussion groups, each with a topic which builds in some way on the "Outing the Bible" theme. Dr.

...behind door number three, we have the provocatively titled "Sex in the Church" discussion group...

Craig O'Neill, a Roman Catholic priest and Spiritual Director with the Center for Sacred Psychology in Culver City, CA, leads a discussion around the new book he co-authored, Coming Out Within: Stages of Spiritual Awakening for Lesbians and Gay Men. In the next room, historian Robert Dawidoff and attorney Michael Nava address the legislative issues they cover in their book, Created Equal: Why Gay Rights Matter to America, which is likewise hot-off-the-presses. Finally, behind door number three, we have the provocatively titled "Sex in the Church" discussion group, led by the Rev. Jim Cohn, a noted social activist in the Los Angeles area, and Connie Norman, an AIDS service center director and a self-described "ex-drag queen, ex-hooker, ex-IV drug user, ex-high risk youth, and current 43 year-old post operative transsexual woman who is HIV positive." I truly hope she writes an autobiography.

I truly hope she writes an autobiography.

Judging from the laughter and applause coming from their room, the "Sex in the Church" discussion must be a real barn burner. Policy wonk that I am, I naturally attend the talk on gay rights. Not surprisingly, all my fellow Washingtonians are there as well. You can take us outside the beltway...

Concluding the working portion of the gathering is a business meeting of Affirmation. Among the items of interest to me and my chapter: changing the annual meeting plan from two national gatherings to one national and one regional gathering; a fresh emphasis on building up existing chapters and creating new ones; and an interest in taking a more evangelical approach to the greater gay, lesbian and bi community. Considering Nancy Wilson's talk this morning, the latter seems a very winning idea.

That evening, 125 people gather in the "Top of the Strip" for the closing banquet. Our featured speaker is the Rev. Dr. James Lawson, senior pastor of Holman UMC in Los Angeles and a veteran civil rights activist.

...step out of our "safe" areas and to speak against injustice...

Dr. Lawson reminds us that our struggle for recognition and civil rights is part of a larger struggle for basic human dignity which spans all ages as well as the globe. He encourages us to step out of our "safe" areas and to speak against injustice wherever we find it.

Two people who have done just that are Mel and Lucille Wheatley. Their public support of gay men and lesbians in the
